Johnson Hands 4 Teams of Girls Promote Omelet Day

By W.B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson gave Congress marching orders today for the war on poverty concentrating his $962.5-million attack on helping needy young Americans.

The program to help youngsters in the 16 to 20 age bracket centers on a job corps reminiscent of the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

"The years of high school and college age are the most critical stage of a young person's life," Johnson said, in a special message on poverty. "If they are not helped then, many will be condemned to a life of poverty which they, in turn, will pass on to their children."

The job corps would enlist up to 100,000 young men draft rejects and school dropouts, from "those whose background, health and education makes them least fit for useful work."

These young men would be removed from their slum backgrounds and placed in camps to work on conservation projects and in special job training centers for a blend of training, basic education and work experience.

Other phases of the youth program are work-training and work-study projects, federal grants to provide full or part time jobs to help youngsters stay in high school, take vocational training.

Hemispheric Aid Pledged by Johnson

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson firmly rededicated the United States today to the Alliance for Progress in Latin America and put heavy emphasis on increased cooperation self-help and social justice.

"The barriers are huge," Johnson said. "The enemies of freedom seek to harass us at every turn."

"We are engaged in a struggle for the destiny of the American republics."

Johnson spoke at the Pan American Union, where Carlos Sanz de Santamaria of Colombia was installed as the first chairman of a new Inter-American Committee for the Alliance for Progress.

The President noted that 31 years ago this month Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed the good neighbor policy for the Americas, and three years ago this month John F. Kennedy called for the Alliance for Progress — a 10-year, $20 billion hemispheric program.

All U.S. ambassadors and foreign aid mission chiefs based in Latin America have been summoned to Washington by the President to attend the session. They are also to participate in a full-scale review of U.S. diplomatic, military and economic relations with Latin America and a discussion of all aspects of hemispheric affairs.

Tonight the President will bring the U.S. ambassadors and aid officials together with Latin American ambassadors at a White House reception. In an interview broadcast Sunday by three radio and television networks Johnson conceded that the alliance has been making slow progress.

Reds Report 1 U.S. Flier in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians have notified U.S. military authorities that one of the RB66 crewmen recently shot down over Communist East Germany is in a Soviet military hospital.

Informal sources said the Russians reported to U.S. military liaison officers in Germany that the American flier is not in serious condition. They offered to allow an American medical officer to visit him at Magdenburg.

The identity of the officer was not disclosed. Three Air Force officers parachuted from the RB66 after it was shot down by a Soviet fighter in East Germany last week.

The sources said a U.S. Air Force flight surgeon, Capt. John Monroe, would go to the Soviet military hospital at Magdenburg to see the flier.

No other details were immediately disclosed.

Usury Fails to Cancel Mortgage

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that a contract cannot be voided for usury simply because the creditor asks in a foreclosure suit for a usurious judgment.

The ruling came in a Woodruff County case in which Mid-State Homes Inc. foreclosed on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Knight of near Augusta.

Mid-State carried a $3,830 mortgage on a shell home built for the Knights. The Knights agreed to pay the note over 76 months at $53.20 a month.

In 1962, Mid-State filed suit for $1,980 it alleged was due on the contract. Woodruff Chancellor Ford Smith ruled that the company had filed suit for all the money that would become due from the unpaid notes, including principal and interest, and because it had sued for interest which had not yet come due, that the contract should be voided for usury.

The Supreme Court said, however, that "The trial court should merely refuse to permit the creditor to recover the unaccrued interest."

The Supreme Court said the Knights were in default on the contract and it instructed the lower court to determine the amount they owe Mid-State.

In a Mississippi County case, the Supreme Court reversed a circuit court holding that Floyd Eddington was not due workmen's compensation benefits for an injury he suffered June 14, 1962 while installing a boiler at the school at Luxora.

Pet Dog Blamed for Child's Death

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP)—Her pet dog was blamed Thursday for the strangulation death of Victoria Aronson, 6.

The girl, with a scarf about her neck, was playing with her Labrador. Investigators said the dog playfully grabbed the end of the scarf between his teeth and dragged the girl about 70 feet through snow. The child was strangled by the scarf.

2nd Boycott N.Y. Schools Is Failure

NEW YORK (AP)—The second civil rights boycott of the million-pupil public school system here today failed to draw the deep support Negroes and Puerto Ricans gave its forerunner six weeks ago.

Before attendance figures were compiled, the size of picket lines and the crowds of children entering schools showed the boycott would not equal the Feb. 3 protest during which 464,000 pupils were absent.

"There seems to be no parental support and no support by the teachers," said the leader of 20 student pickets outside the High School of Commerce in Manhattan.

The demonstration was staged by the Citywide Committee for Integrated Schools against what it calls de facto segregation in the city's 663 public schools.

The withdrawn support of several organized civil rights bodies apparently extended to the rank and file of the Negro community.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Congress of Racial Equality and the Urban League did not endorse the boycott. All three supported the earlier one.

In the Feb. 3 boycott, more than 464,000 pupils—about 364,000 more than usual—stayed away from classes. City school enrollment is more than a million. So did 3,500 teachers.

There is no segregation by law in the school system, the nation's largest. A Board of Education integration plan was rejected by civil rights groups in January. The board proposed to join the enrollment of 30 of the 165 predominantly white schools.

Civil rights leaders said the plan was too limited and too slow in coming.

Man Slain; Wife, Son Are Held

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—A Boone County farmer was beaten to death with a hammer Sunday night and his wife and 15-year-old son were charged with second-degree murder, Prosecutor Joe Villines said today.

Dead is Ames Keef, 62. His 49-year-old wife, Thelma, and son James Lynn, were released on $2,500 bond each after the charge was filed.

Villines quoted Mrs. Keef as saying she and her son and daughter, Cora, 18, returned from a neighbor's home Sunday night and found Keef drunk.

"He started cursing us and said he was going to kill us," Villines quoted Mrs. Keef as saying.

Villines said the woman described the slaying this way: Keef took a 12 gauge shotgun from one corner of the living room and moved it to the other corner, then went upstairs "to fuss at Cora."

James removed the shell from the shotgun. When Keef came downstairs, he struck at Mrs. Keef and she picked up a hammer she kept under a bed and hit him. A scuffle ensued.

"I guess I just lost my head," Villines quoted her as saying. "He was hunkered down by the foot of the bed and I straightened him out and hit him some more," Villines said the woman told him. She said the boy also hit the man.

The Keefs live on a 120-acre farm six miles northeast of Harrison. Keef also worked as a veterinarian.

The hammer was found under a chair near the body, Sheriff Doyle Hickman said.

Funeral services for John W. Winemiller, who died Friday, were held at 10:30 this morning in the Oakcrest Funeral Chapel with Rev. Charles Jones officiating.

Interment was in Memory Gardens under the directions of Oakcrest.

Flood Damage Estimated at $100 Million

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—After a week-long battle against the bloated Ohio River, residents of five states worked today to clean up a flood that has caused an estimated $100 million damage and has claimed a dozen lives.

Federal planners joined with governments of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania to help the estimated 110,000 persons affected by the worst Ohio River valley flood in 19 years.

The crest on the Ohio surged downriver and passed Owensboro where some residents have returned home. Others must wait for the flood to dip further before they can return to mud-coated property which they fled last week.

The U.S. Weather Bureau says it will be a week before the river drops to flood stage at most points between Louisville and Cairo, Ill.

The Ohio leaked under a floodwall in Cannelton, Ind., Sunday, but officials said there appeared no danger to water-front residents. Sandbags blocked the water's path and civil defense workers were standing by in case evacuation was needed.

The river crested 8.5 feet above flood stage at Owensboro. No significant new flooding was reported.

President Johnson, who made an aerial tour of the flood area Friday with the governors of five states, has assured the states aid would be forthcoming.

The Red Cross has established rehabilitation centers and urged residents apply for long-term aid. Some shelters were being closed as many refugees returned to their homes.

The Salvation Army, Red Cross and other agencies started distributing clean-up and comfort kits and civil groups began handing out clothes to the flood victims.

President Johnson has been asked to declare 47 counties in Kentucky and 12 in West Virginia as disaster areas.

Wasn't Kidding on Broad Stripes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Francis Scott Key wasn't kidding about those "broad stripes" when he wrote the Star-Spangled Banner in 1814.

The flag which withstood the British bombardment of Fort M'Henry in Baltimore and inspired Key to write the song that became the National Anthem had stripes two feet wide.

Seventy-five Maryland women have used more than three miles of thread and about 500,000 stitches in reproducing the flag, reputed to be the largest American flag ever flown in battle. The banner measures 42 feet by 30 feet and weighs 75 pounds.

When the flag is completed it will be displayed in the Maryland Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

Panama-U.S. Pact Report Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. spokesman has squelched optimism arising from an Organization of American States announcement that the United States and Panama had agreed to resume diplomatic relations.

The situation was further confused when an aide to Panama's President Roberto Chiari confirmed in Panama City the agreement announced by the OAS.

Panama broke diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10 after rioting in the Panama Canal Zone left 21 persons dead and some 200 wounded. It said it would not resume relations until the United States agreed to renegotiate the 1903 treaty under which it has perpetual rights to operate the canal.

For its part, the United States said resumption of diplomatic relations must precede any talks about the canal's future.

Sunday night's announcement by Ambassador Juan Plate of Paraguay, chairman of the special OAS committee investigating the crisis and seeking a reconciliation, said:

"The governments of the Republic of Panama and of the United States of America have agreed to re-establish diplomatic relations as soon as possible to seek the prompt elimination of the causes of conflict relative to the Panama Canal."

The agreement calls for both countries to "designate special ambassadors with sufficient powers to carry out discussions and negotiations with the objective of reaching a fair and just agreement."

It added that diplomatic relations will be resumed "as soon as possible."

A statement from the U.S. source said:

"The United States Government, and the Government of Panama, as of 11 p.m. Sunday, have had no meeting of the minds on either the resumption of relations or the procedures to be followed in an attempt to solve the problems surrounding the Panama disturbances."

"The United States Government will welcome a resumption of diplomatic relations with Panama. The United States appreciates the contribution of the OAS delegation and hopes that successful conversations will result from its endeavors."

Charged With Beating Child

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Clifford Eugene Dobbs, 28, a former mental patient, was charged Thursday with maiming his 5-year-old stepson.

The charge says Dobbs heated pans on a stove and placed them on the boy's back and forced the child to sit on them.

Prosecutor John Jernigan said several skin grafts would be needed for the injuries.

He said the boy also had been beaten with a belt and buckle, and with wet towels. The child was hospitalized.

Circuit Judge William J. Kerby ordered a mental examination for Dobbs at the State Hospital before the case is tried.

Five years ago a jury found Dobbs innocent by reason of insanity of a charge of raping an 82-year-old woman near Pleasant Plains, 14 miles south of Batesville.

He was committed to the State Hospital then, but left without permission last August.

Rail Strike Is Feared Very Near

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief railroad negotiator J.E. Wolfe said today the country is on "the verge of a national railroad strike."

Wolfe said five railroad unions created the new strike threat by bypassing national negotiations and seeking separate talks with two individual railroads.

"We have unimpeachable advice that the unions do intend to strike Wednesday" against the two railroads Wolfe said at a news conference.

Wolfe released a copy of a letter the railroad negotiators delivered to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz Sunday.

"We really are asking that you move promptly to prevent the unions from turning private disputes into public disaster," the letter said.

A Labor Department observer at Wolfe's press conference said there would be no immediate comment from Wirtz.

Hearing on Smoking Is Opened

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission opens hearings today on its proposal to tag every pack of cigarettes with a health warning.

FTC Chairman Paul Dixon is the leadoff witness, to be followed over three days by representatives of the tobacco industry and tobacco workers, governors of tobacco-growing states, physicians and public health officials.

In the wake of the surgeon general's report Jan. 11 that cigarette smoking is a hazard to health, the commission proposed that every cigarette advertisement and every cigarette package carry this warning: "Caution: Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health. It may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

The commission also proposes a ban on advertising which suggests that smoking cigarettes promotes health or general well-being.

A final commission decision is not expected for months.

'Savage Sam' Tale of Dog and Redskins

If the Saenger theater seems to be hooking a lot of Walt Disney pictures close together you won't mind — after seeing 'Savage Sam,' which goes on the local screen for the last time tonight (Monday).

For this is the story of a giant blue-tick hound who follows two frontier boys and a girl after their capture by the Apaches, and then helps with the rescue as the posse rides up. It is an exciting Western, with magnificent color, closeups of animals in action, and a broad streak of slapstick humor.

Top billing goes to Brian Keith who plays the fast-gun uncle of the Indian-kidnaped brothers, with Tommy Kirk as the older brother and Kevin Corcoran as the younger. Corcoran is hailed as a kid star — but for my money he's just a spoiled brat.

His best scene: An expert at rock-throwing he hurls his older brother in the outhouse and keeps him busy between dodging stones and fanning a mail-order catalog to stop the blue-tick hound from crawling under the door. This hilarious siege comes to an end only when the uncle rides up and explains the historic differences of opinion between brothers who are older and brothers who are younger.

The dramatic peak is hit when the big dog, wounded by the Indians, is put on a horse by the posse and lifted down from time to time to pick up the scent and keep the men on the trail. And of course man's best friend doesn't fail him — and so the picture ends in a sure-enough shooting war.

More about the dog: From the press book I learned his name is Tom Dooley, and the reason for this is that, being a blue-tick hound he sometimes looks forlorn, and that reminded the boys of the song, 'Hound Dog Your Head, Tom Dooley.'—Washburn

Bypassing of Towns by Interstate Highway Has Little Business Effect

EDITOR'S NOTE — Because it reflects what Arkansas towns may expect when Interstate 30 bypasses them, we are reprinting in part the following special article regarding the situation in Mississippi on another interstate route.

By JOHN STOKES

In the Memphis Commercial Appeal

COMO, Miss. — This is a little town that everybody thought would be a ghost by now. It's been bypassed by an interstate highway.

But Como is going great guns. "We miss the faces of the Memphis fishermen we used to see a great deal," Mayor Robert "Son" Porter said. "but I don't see much difference in retail business otherwise."

Como is one of eight towns on U.S. 51 that have been bypassed so far by Interstate 55. Before the interstate opened in 1962, an average 3,070 vehicles a day came under the city's single stop light on Highway 51. Now, only 1,250 vehicles a day come under the cars a day use the interstate east of here.

Businesses on the highway were hurt. A service station closed, but it has since reopened; the Como Motel's business fell off appreciably.

But the town seems to be undergoing a boom. About $100,000 in street repairs are planned, the city just finished a $165,000 sewer program and is planning expenditure of $187,000 for improved water systems. That's big money for a town of a "little less than 1,000" residents.

But Como, like a number of other towns on Highway 51, is getting ready for a business boom it thinks will come as a result of the interstate. Gloom merchants who forecast the death of towns bypassed by the super highway have not been heeded by fast moving town officials.

Mayor Porter says he thinks the interstate will make Memphis so accessible from North Mississippi that a flood of Memphians will "move to the Country" around here and commute to town. He is so confident of the southward migration that a re-appraisal of property here for tax purposes has been ordered.

Ruby in Cell Waiting for an Appeal

By RELMAN MORIN

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby remained alone in a jail cell today while his attorneys prepared to appeal the verdict of a Dallas jury which sentenced him to death for murder.

"Maximum security" surrounds Ruby. Sheriff Bill Decker said.

But Ruby's attorney, Melvin Belli, said he is worried about a possible attempt on Ruby's life and has asked for extra protection for him.

"Later on," Decker said, "when he has adjusted to the jolt of the verdict, he probably will be put in a large cell with other prisoners. He's had maximum security from the beginning and he will continue to have it in jail."

Dallas authorities refused to "discuss by comment" a statement Belli has made several times since Ruby was convicted Saturday morning of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

"Ruby is worried, and so am I, that they may slip someone into his cell—another prisoner—with a shiv (knife) in order to prevent our appeal. Then they would make it appear as a suicide and this vicious city would have him off their hands."

Throughout the 23-day trial, three guards sat near Ruby in court—so near, in fact, that Belli once protested they were listening to his conversations with Ruby. They were seated in such a way as to be able to watch the spectators.

Saturday, before the verdict was handed down, Decker put three more in the front row of seats.

"I haven't gambled since they brought Ruby here," the sheriff said. "and I'm certainly not going to gamble today."

Belli continued to rage against the "Dallas oligarchy" and insist that Ruby was "railroaded."

Ten days ago Belli told this reporter, "the Dallas oligarchy has ordered Ruby's execution. You'll see."

In Texas, the jury fixes the penalty. For murder, punishment ranges from two years imprisonment, suspended, to death in the electric chair.

Ruby's lawyers can take the first step toward an appeal by asking Judge Joe B. Brown for a new trial. They have 10 days to file.

Since a trial judge seldom reverses himself, the next step would be the Texas Criminal Court of Appeals within 90 days.

A "full bill of exceptions" to Brown's rulings during the trial is being prepared, Belli said. The defense filed 139 exceptions to the language in Brown's charge to the jury.

Oswald was shot to death Nov. 24 as he was being transferred from one jail to another.

Hornung and Karras Reinstated

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hornung, star Green Bay Packers halfback, and Alex Karras, bruising defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, were restored to good standing by the National Football League today, after having been suspended nearly a year ago for betting on football games.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the two players had been reinstated after separate reviews of their suspensions and personal discussions with the two players.

They were suspended April 17, 1963, after both had admitted betting on their teams to win certain games and on some games in which they were not involved.

Rozelle said there was no evidence that either player ever bet against his own team or failed to do his best in any NFL game.

Rozelle said he had established to his own satisfaction that each player now has a clear understanding of the seriousness of the offenses and of the circumstances that brought them about.

Rozelle's prepared statement said: "Taking into prime consideration the extent of their violation and also their conduct during the period of suspension, it is felt that the best interests of the league will be best served by termination of the suspensions."

At the same time, five other Detroit players were fined the maximum of $2,000 each for betting on one game and the Detroit club was fined $4,000 for laxness in reporting information to the commissioner and in supervising its bench at games.

Betting on games is flatly forbidden by a provision in NFL player contracts. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said there was no evidence that the players had bet against their own teams or that they ever had attempted to influence the results of games.

Both Hornung and Karras admitted they had made substantial bets of $50 or more over a period of several seasons. The other five—Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker, John Gordy, Gary Lowe and Sam Williams—bet $50 each and Karras $100 on the Green Bay Packers to beat the New York Giants in the 1962 NFL championship game.

The players were in Miami for the Playoff Bowl game and were watching the championship game on television. The bets were placed through a Florida friend of Karras—not a bookmaker. The others said it was done on impulse and that they never had bet on games at any other time.

Hornung began betting in 1959 through a West Coast businessman but quit after the 1961 season. His bets on the Packers to win sometimes were as high as $500, though more often they were $50 or $100.

The Lions were fined because Coach George Wilson failed to pass on information given by tional training or work their way through college.

Coordinating the war on poverty will be a new executive agency, the Office of Economic Opportunities, which Johnson said would be headed by Sargent Shriver, "my personal chief of staff for the war against poverty."

In addition to the Job Corps, Shriver also will supervise creation of another new group, the Volunteers for America, a Peace Corps-styled body of 3,000 to 5,000 volunteers who will work in various phases of the war on poverty.

Both the Job Corps and the Volunteers for America are taken from legislation now pending in Congress—the Youth Conservation Corps and the National Service Corps respectively.

Other phases of the war on poverty asked by Johnson included:

—A program of grants of up to 90 per cent for urban and rural community action programs, where local plans were drafted to utilize all available community resources, public and private, to wipe out pockets of poverty.

—Special grants and loans to help boost the incomes of subsistence farmers.

—Special low interest loans for investments that will provide jobs for low-income families or persons who have been out of jobs for many months, and also to small business not eligible for regular loans from the small business administration.

—Expansion of a Welfare Department program to help train and find jobs for heads of families whose children now receive payments under the aid to dependent children program.

So far, a White House source said, selection standards have not been set up for the Job Corps, nor have detailed plans been made for setting up the camps and job training center.

The source said many of the 40,000 recruited for the Job Corps in the first year would come from the backlog of more than one million already rejected by the draft as physically, mentally or psychologically unfit.

A source said an "outstanding educational leader" has been chosen to head the Job Corps, but refused to identify him.

Enlistment for the maximum two-year term of service would be voluntary.

Half of the young men recruited in the first year would be put to work in groups of 50 to 250 on "special conservation projects to give them education, useful work experience and to enrich the natural resources of the country."

The other half will go to the job training centers, where up to 5,000 will be congregated. Plans tentatively call for these centers to be located near cities with major educational facilities, so that the facilities may be used on a part-time basis.

The President revealed some of his poverty war plans Sunday night in a radio-television interview.

Johnson said the money for the poverty program had come from slicing money from the defense budget, adding, "so it will come from those who have it, to those who don't have it."

Creation of the new agency came apparently as a compromise following a bureaucratic battle over who should control the program.

There were almost constant

Detroit police about the associates of some Lion players and because sideline passes were issued to unauthorized persons.

Police reported that Detroit players had been seen with men who were under surveillance as known hoodlums. Wilson saw some inaccuracies in these reports and minimized their importance.

rumblings of this power fight during the six weeks that Shriver's special task force worked in secret on the bill.

In his broadcast interview Sunday, Johnson said:

"We realize it is a beginning, it is not an extremely comprehensive program. We are going to have Sargent Shriver in charge of coordinating the program between the agencies who already are working in that field—the Agriculture Department; the Justice Department; the Health, Education and Welfare Department; the Labor Department; in manpower training. And we don't want to create more agencies, we want to use the ones we have."

Johnson said the war on poverty would "try to get at the roots and causes of poverty that cause 20 per cent of our people to live off less than $3,000 a year" and to do something "about half a million men that are rejected each year because of mental or physical reasons for service."

He added, "we are going to try to recognize and proceed on the basis that illiteracy and ignorance and disease cost this government billions of dollars per year, and make for much unhappiness."

For a time the poverty planners seriously considered lowering the draft registration age for quicker screening of those young men who fail pre-induction physical and mental examinations, sources said, so they could be reclaimed for useful roles in society.

This apparently has been shelved.

Shriver is expected to remain on his present job as director of the Peace Corps, for the time being. However, White House plans call for eventual replacement of him at the Peace Corps.

leg to the trip to Mexico City. Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos and other ranking government officials and the diplomatic corps were to welcome De Gaulle to Mexico City.

De Gaulle will spend four days in Mexico in an effort to boost French prestige and trade as a prelude to visits to Argentina, Brazil, Peru and Uruguay this fall. He is the first French president to visit Latin America.

Latin-American Communists are reported exploiting the visit by stressing De Gaulle's differences with the United States, particularly his pursuit of an independent foreign policy.

Lopez Mateos ordered a holiday for all federal employees to insure a massive turnout, perhaps even exceeding the welcome for President Kennedy in 1962.

Although Mexico differs with De Gaulle on the recognition of Red China and the spread of nuclear weapons, the outcome of the talks is reported so assured that French and Mexican officials already are drafting the joint communique De Gaulle and Lopez Mateos will issue Wednesday.

Triple-A Plans Own Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There's a good chance that Class AAA will pull out of the Class AA - AAA state high school basketball tournament.

Class AAA officials met during last week's tournament and decided to check on whether the Arkansas Athletic Association would approve the Class AAA holding a tournament of its own.

Johnnie Burnett, executive secretary of the AAA, said he had talked with several Class AA officials and they were agreeable to separate tournaments. Burnett said he believed there would be separate meets next year.

The Class AAA basketball coaches voted to hold their own tournament. However, higher school officials control such things.

Class A and B already hold separate tournaments, although they play them at the same time in Little Rock's Barton Coliseum.

Burnett proposed that the first round of the tournaments be played out in the state, as regional meets. This would split up some of the proceeds and give more fans a chance to watch.

Class AAA has only four representatives in the state meet as it is held. "The Class AA schools have been pretty successful in winning the tournament," Burnett noted.

Nothing Like a Fat Pay Check

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's nothing like a fat pay-check to make training interesting. So Luis Rodriguez was quick to accept a substitute's sale for a television fight with middleweight Holley Mims at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The amiable Cuban will fill in for middleweight contender Joey Archer, who suffered a cut over his right eye and couldn't go through his return bout with Mims.

Rodriguez meets welterweight champion Emile Griffith in a title fight June 12 and already is in good shape. The 27-year-old Cuban holds victories over some of the leading 160-pounders including Skeeter McClure, Joey Giambra and Jose Gonzalez.

McClure, of Toledo, meets Tommy Payne of Detroit at Detroit tonight.

Zora Foley, the No. 5 heavyweight contender from Chandler, Ariz., opposes Tod Herring of Houston at Houston Tuesday night.

Trotter Racing Figure Dies

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Eugene J. Hayes, whose efforts were successful in bringing the Hambletonian trotting stake to this tradition-steeped harness racing community, died Sunday at the age of 54.

Hayes, president of the Du Quoin State Fair and co-sponsor of the Hambletonian, died in Good Samaritan Hospital in nearby Mount Vernon where he had undergone surgery for removal of a growth in his lower esophagus—the entry passage from the throat to the stomach. Hayes and his brother, Don, were instrumental in getting the Hambletonian—the Kentucky Derby of harness racing—to Du Quoin in 1957.

Business Not as Bad as Politicians

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The turmoil of a national election year often sends currents swirling through the stock market temporarily. But the effect on the economy in general is usually far less than the political orators are wont to predict.

Businessmen will be paying more attention to any widening effects of the federal tax cut than to who is likely to be the Republican candidate for president or to which party has the better chance of winning in November. And they will be paying even more attention to the underlying strengths of the economy apparent before the tax cut.

In most presidential election years in the past the economy continued along the trend the business cycle already was taking, whether that was up or down. And any change in that trend during the campaign has been explained by economic causes rather than by political prospects.

In a few of the elections the incoming administration has meant a distinct break with past policies. But usually the economic forces themselves already were clear cut, and too strong to be moved much by the results of the votes.

Ever since World War II the government has become so large a force in the economy, and its general policies so set, that there has been increasingly less change in direction with any turnover in administration.

Campaign talk, however, can sway a sensitive stock market at times. The market reacts quickly to rumors of war or peace, to talk of new political policies touted as bearing on business, in fact, to rumors of almost any kind.

This year the business cycle is still on the upside, even though the recovery from the low point of the last recession is now three years old, a ripe age for the average upswing.

The tax cut, as it boosts consumer buying and as it encourages businessmen to increase their expansion and modernization programs, is counted upon to keep the upswing going through the campaign period at least.

A world debacle, a sudden loss of confidence at home, might change this. There is at present no sign that either is in the making.

That the course of the economy may be changed very little by the alarms and excursions of the political campaigns does not mean that businessmen won't have their preferences.

They doubtless will feel that one side will make the climate in Washington more salubrious for them than it would be under the other. Many businessmen will openly take sides this time, reversing their traditional caution about political partisanship. But they are unlikely to change their company's plans in any way because of the fortunes of the campaign.

On the state and local levels the campaigns may be quite meaningful to business conditions there.

But if the recent past is a guide, the national party platforms will be fairly close in matters affecting the general economy. The present administration is unlikely to take any steps that would upset the business applecart. And the public is unlikely to change its spending, saving or investing plans because of any political oratory.

Even individuals with the most partisan views are likely to go on handling the family budget quite apart from them, and to assess economic prospects in much the same fashion as their neighbors.

Lodge Victory Revives Move

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga County Draft-Lodge Committee had its telephone disconnected and had all but shut down its headquarters here when Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's write-in victory in the New Hampshire primary revived the movement.

Dr. Frank J. Dzurik, head of the committee, said Wednesday he would get a new telephone back in the office on Public Square.

Blue Angel Pilot Plunges to Death

APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP)—Lt. George N. Neale, 29, one of the Navy's Blue Angel precision pilots, plunged to his death Sunday when his parachute failed to open fully after he ejected from his crippled jet.

A Navy spokesman said the flight demonstration team was returning to its base at Pensacola, Fla., from an air show at West Palm Beach when Neale's plane "experienced some sort of mechanical failure" west of Apalachicola, 167 miles east of Pensacola.

W.H. Meadows and his son, Billy, said they heard a popping noise—like a backfire—before the jet fighter hit 200 yards from their home. Meadows said the pilot ejected at about 150 to 200 feet—too low for his chute to open fully.

we share an apartment, but he says marriage is not for him and says, "You have had marriage, anyhow." The other is worse. He calls without invitation, seizes me and won't let go until I threaten to scream. He says, "You're a grown girl. Why waste time on preliminaries?" Why do men regard widows this way, Dr. Brothers? —B. W.

Dear B. W.: I don't know whether the idea came from folklore or heresy, but an attractive widow always seems to bring out strong emotions in both sexes.

Widows are generally mystified as to why they seem such a menace on all sides. They see themselves merely as wives who have lost their husbands. Yet, to other wives, they are objects of suspicion, and ready to trap any unsuspecting husband. And men see them as love-deprived individuals, with all of women's mysterious allurements. Both diagnoses are false and unfair.

Some men seem to find it very smart and daring to pay court to a widow. It has the challenge of seeing how close you can come to the fire without being burned.

There are definite suggestions a psychologist can make to an attractive widow, and these include dos and don'ts for her love life.

First, keep your emotional control well in hand. It's all too easy to succumb to some male's blandishments when you're lonely for the first year. Often you'll find that these great attentions are nothing more than an arrangement of convenience for the would-be suitor.

So, perhaps arrange to live with another woman. It's easier to entertain desirable men, if you have a semi-chaperone in the background. And it's an insurance against loneliness.

If you plan remarriage don't defer it indefinitely. We find the second year of widowhood is the most favorable and likely time for this remarriage. After the fourth year, the average widow's chances to remarry decline.

If you're attractive, the chances are you'll have several admirers. But which one will make the best husband? There's one general guide to this. Don't look for a carbon copy of your first husband. Psychologists find you may compare him unfavorably with your initial mate. Rather, try to select a second mate who in many ways is quite unlike your first husband. And don't continue your early marriage as a sort of second installment. Start fresh. Studies show you'll be happier this way.

And here's another word: You may have inherited a nest-egg from your first husband, be sure it's not more than passing interest to your admirers. The first clue to a man's unusual financial interest is often a request for a very small loan, the beginning of many repeated requests to come. Suppose you don't find a man who can pass muster as suitable husband material. It's usually better to continue your independence, than settle for second choice, who may bring you more unhappiness than happiness.

A Note On Missing Mates
When a mate runs away, who gets most excited and does something about it—the man or the woman?

Not long ago I asked one of New York's leading detective agencies with 30 years experience tracing missing mates.

When a wife disappears, only about 1 husband in 10 will be sufficiently alarmed to track her down. And to add insult to indifference, even then not right off, but a few days later when the dishes and laundry pile up!

But let a husband disappear. The chances are 100 to 1 there will be an anxious wife on his trail within hours.

Is it love, is it concern for him, or because he's missed around the house? Not at all, say these private eyes. He's the family meal ticket.

THE WEeping WIDOW MINE

By Nelson C. Nye

Copyright 1964, Nelson C. Nye

THE STORY: Much to his anguish, Charlie Medders learns that Belita Storn, who owns half interest in his big strike, has joined forces with his arch-enemy, Tiberius Jones.

XIII

Every instinct honed by danger urged Medders toward flight while the way was still open. Other notions, equally fierce and as bitterly compelling, made him reluctant to take to the brush while Jones - justified by repeated creditors - proceeded to cut up Charlie's find and take over.

Jones could get away with it, too! With that girl on his side and the law in his pocket Jones could ride roughshod over Medders objections, do just about anything he wanted with the property. Who was to stop him? He could marshal control of 50 per cent. He could do just what he had said he would - form a company, float stock and, in Charlie's absence, juggle things around to suit himself. He could buy up the notes Charlie'd given those merchants, then sue for a judgment and use Charlie's shares to pay himself.

When it came to kulduggery you had to stay up all night if you hope to stay even with T. K. Jones!

This was why he'd pulled out of his hut to wait here where he could see if the banker meant to have him followed.

Charlie had never fled on his claim, hadn't staked it out or recorded it, either. This was not, on his part, either laziness or ignorance.

He guessed he was pretty ignorant, come right down to it. But he had known enough the arms about claims and filing - sufficient anyway to want to keep clean away from them.

The whole history of mining was crammed with litigations and the sad stories of guys like himself that had been jumped or frozen out.

To record his find - or so Charlie'd reckoned - would have been right down tantamount to handing Jones the means of taking it away from him. So long as the source of this ore stayed a mystery he had figured to be able to laugh at the man. But then that girl had come along half out of her noggins.

He'd had to stumble onto her and, because she'd seemed so young and helpless looking, he had let a natural pity get the upper hand of caution. After fetching her on her feet he had awakened one day to the fact that he was stuck with her. This had never had any part in his plans and, in the increasing disgust of her close proximity, spooked by her transparent attempts to maneuver him into making the mistake of his life.

He had thought getting rid of her would be worth half his hoard; had been glad to give it to her and gladder still when she'd rose to the bait and took off with that paper.

His head was filled with a hodgepodge of things laced through with worries and premonitions of disaster. And behind everything else, buried deep but far from quiet, was the sour and restive knowledge that he had actually been afraid to put this find on record.

Just the same, by grab, this whole deal was peculiar - and not just the ore with them palish green streaks stacked up like firewood clean across the far wall of that bottommost cavern. Even the caves themselves wasn't like others he had ever seen.

That top one had looked natural enough, even with the cabin and its padlocked door - until he'd got inside and discovered that windlass with the rope rotted off it. It wasn't until he'd happened to peer into the hole that he had spotted the hidden ladder and, driven by curiosity, had fashioned a pitchpine torch and gingerly crept down the thing to have a look.

Three levels opened off that shaft; he had used up most of a day going through each one as he came to it. He'd had trouble with the ladders which were in bad shape and crudely made to begin with. The lashings which bound the rungs to the uprights had apparently been fashioned from strips of rawhide and some were rotten, letting go under his weight several times to scare him mightily.

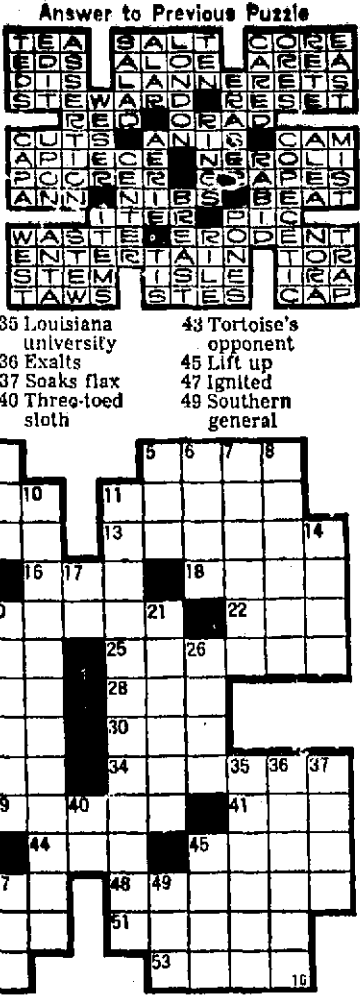

The first and second levels beneath the cabin cave had been given over to a series of chambers reminding of pictures he had seen of old castles, tiny dungeons - like cubicles hardly bigger than monks' cells with rusted chains bolted into the rocks.

Idea of March Bitter to Many Cage Teams

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Note to the UCLA and Michigan basketball teams: Here in the middle of March, it might be wise to brush up on your Shakespeare. "Beware," warned the bard, "The Ides of March."

He might have added that what happened in December doesn't count.

Vic Bubas of Duke and Tex Winter of Kansas State have voiced the same opinion, in slightly less poetic terms, perhaps, but it's the same idea. More like:

"They'd just better watch a little bit out."

Michigan is matched with Duke and UCLA with Kansas State in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball championships and in each case the top-ranked team owns a regular season victory over its Friday night opponent.

Top-ranked UCLA edged Kansas State 75-73 at Kansas and No. 2 Michigan romped over Duke 83-67 in December matches.

"I made a coaching mistake in that one," Bubas insists.

"Both teams have come a long way since then," said Winter. "We're a lot better now than we were then."

He reflected a moment, then added:

"UCLA's press is a lot like Wichita's. We handled them pretty well."

His Big Eight champion Wildcats ripped into the Shockers' press defense for a 94-86 triumph and the Midwest regional championship at Wichita Saturday.

Unbeaten UCLA came from behind for its 28th straight victory, a 76-72 edge over San Francisco for the Western regional title at Corvallis, Ore. Michigan clipped Ohio Univ. 69-57 for the Midwest title at Minneapolis and third-ranked Duke blasted Connecticut 101-54 for the Eastern crown at Raleigh, N.C.

Royals Close With Win Over Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals, who barely missed breaking Boston's longstanding grip on the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division title, have assured San Francisco of no less than a piece of its first Western Division championship.

The Royals closed out their best NBA season ever by humiliating St. Louis 124-101 Sunday and dropping the Hawks two full games behind the Warriors in the West. St. Louis and San Francisco each have two games remaining and the Hawks must win both while the Warriors lose both to force a deadlock.

The New York Knickerbockers had an opportunity to cement their spot at the bottom of the league standings—a distinction that carries with it the first pick in the college draft. But the Knicks wound up on the front end of a 139-125 point exchange with Detroit, leaving the Pistons with an outside shot at the sorriest season record.

In other games Boston drubbed Baltimore 129-105 and Los Angeles ripped Philadelphia 120-95.

Oscar Robertson's 25 points and 15 assists paced Cincinnati to its 55th victory in 80 games but the Royals lost Adrian Smith in the third period when the backcourt man sprained his left ankle.

The Lakers dropped a 111-95 decision to San Francisco Saturday while Detroit nipped New York 126-124. Philadelphia topped Baltimore 128-122 and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 118-110.

Daytona Decides on a New Coach

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The University of Dayton athletic board has decided on Don Donohue as the successor to the late Tom Blackburn as head basketball coach according to the Dayton Journal Herald.

Identity of the new coach, with formal approval pending, is being kept secret.

The athletic chairman, the Rev. Charles L. Collins, confirmed that the administrative decision has been made but refused to disclose more.

Donohue, hired the previous year, replaced Blackburn during the veteran coach's hospitalization for lung cancer before the 1963-64 campaign.

Janova beat Princeton 74-62 in the East, Texas Western took Creighton, 63-52 in the Midwest, Chicago Loyola outscored Kentucky 100-91 in the Midwest and Seattle defeated Utah State 88-78 in the West.

In the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tourney in Madison Square Garden, New York U. upset top-seeded DePaul 79-66 and Bradley edged St. Joseph's, Pa., 83-81. Drake stopped Pitt 87-82 and Army surprised St. Bonaventure 64-62 in first round games.

Rockhurst upset defending champion Pan American 66-56 and won the NAIA championship at Kansas City. Carson Newman beat Emporia State 73-60 for third place.

10. Davidson, 22-4, did not play. Season completed for all three, UCLA, Michigan and Duke.

Motor City Dead End for Black Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit may be a nice place to live, but as far as the Chicago Black Hawks are concerned they will pass it.

The Motor City has been a dead end for the Hawks, whose drive for a first National Hockey League pennant was stalled for the seventh time in seven trips to the Red Wings' lair Sunday night. The Hawks lost 5-3 and blew a chance to wrest sole possession of the league lead from Montreal.

The Canadiens stumbled over the lowly Bruins 3-1 at Boston and remained in a first place deadlock with Chicago with 80 points apiece. Montreal has three games left to play, one more than Chicago.

Third place Toronto stayed four points ahead of Detroit by beating New York 3-1 for a weekend sweep over the fifth place Rangers.

Floyd Smith and Norm Ullman spearheaded Detroit's sixth home-ice victory over Chicago—the seventh was a tie. Smith scored three goals, the last his 16th of the season. Ullman netted his 21st goal and added four assists. Gordie Howe's 25th goal completed the Wings' output.

Emergency Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus gave the state Negro Boys Training School $24,500 from his emergency fund Thursday to pay for the installation of about 1.8 miles of water line to tie to the Little Rock system.
